Andorra parties (andorra_parties.json)

Source: Source: the infobox of English Wikipedia's "2027 Andorran parliamentary election" article, which lists the main parties, each with its leader (leader1/party1, leader2/party2, ...). For each party the article's own page (when it has one) supplies the colour (Wikipedia's {{party color}} template) and each leader's article image is saved under app/static/images/andorra_candidates/. A party with no resolvable colour is neutral grey, a leader with no image gets the standard placeholder. Nothing is hardcoded: a party or leader that changes on the article shows up on the next run. No opinion polling exists for this election, so none is collected. Source links in the data: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2027_Andorran_parliamentary_election

Source: Source: the Central Election Commission's results site (app/services/bulgaria_pvr_client.py), using public HTTP with Chrome as a fallback. Candidate names, photos and colours come from bulgaria_candidates.json (ballot number is the key). Percentages are the CIK's own: the share of ALL valid votes, "I do not support anyone" included (it counts as valid for the majority). Early vote (early_vote.json)

Source: Source: civicAPI's free Early Vote Tracker (app/services/civicapi_early_vote.py), which collects each state's own published early-voting file. Per state and category (`requested` mail ballots, `returned` mail ballots, `inperson` early votes) it keeps the statewide total and, where the state publishes it, each county's, split by the voter's REGISTERED PARTY. These are BALLOTS BY REGISTERED PARTY -- never how anyone voted -- and a state only publishes some categories and some splits; what a state does not publish is simply absent here, never filled in.

Early vote county parties (early_vote_county_parties.json)

Source: Schedule: every source is checked once per 24 hours. A run that fails outright, or finishes with some states/categories failed, is retried -- only what failed -- 30 and then 120 minutes later (two retries at most), then left until the next daily check. A successful run is not repeated. Sources run one at a time, each in a tracked worker thread (JobRegistry), so shutdown can wait for it.

Early vote nbc (early_vote_nbc.json)

Source: Schedule: every source is checked once per 24 hours. A run that fails outright, or finishes with some states/categories failed, is retried -- only what failed -- 30 and then 120 minutes later (two retries at most), then left until the next daily check. A successful run is not repeated. Sources run one at a time, each in a tracked worker thread (JobRegistry), so shutdown can wait for it.

Early vote pdi (early_vote_pdi.json)

Source: Schedule: every source is checked once per 24 hours. A run that fails outright, or finishes with some states/categories failed, is retried -- only what failed -- 30 and then 120 minutes later (two retries at most), then left until the next daily check. A successful run is not repeated. Sources run one at a time, each in a tracked worker thread (JobRegistry), so shutdown can wait for it.

Early vote texas history (early_vote_texas_history.json)

Source: Schedule: every source is checked once per 24 hours. A run that fails outright, or finishes with some states/categories failed, is retried -- only what failed -- 30 and then 120 minutes later (two retries at most), then left until the next daily check. A successful run is not repeated. Sources run one at a time, each in a tracked worker thread (JobRegistry), so shutdown can wait for it.

Elsalvador candidates (elsalvador_candidates.json)

Source: Source: the article's election infobox, which lists each nominated ticket (`candidateN`, `partyN`, `running_mateN`). Nothing is hardcoded: whoever the infobox lists when this runs is shown (re-run as the field changes; the TSE's official registration period runs 1 October - 19 November 2026, so the list can still change). Each party's colour comes from Wikipedia's {{party color}} template, and a photo from the candidate's own article image (MediaWiki pageimages) saved under app/static/images/elsalvador_candidates/; a candidate with no article has no photo and the app shows its standard placeholder. France candidates (france_candidates.json)

Source: Source: the article's "Declared candidates" section -- one `=== Party ===` heading per party/group with a bullet per declared candidate (`* '''[[Name]]''', offices held ...`). Nothing here is hardcoded: who is declared, and under which party, is whatever that section lists when this script runs (re-run it as the field changes). Photos come from the candidates' own Wikipedia article image (MediaWiki pageimages API), saved under app/static/images/france_candidates/; a candidate with no article image has no photo and the app shows its standard placeholder. Slovenia candidates (slovenia_candidates.json)

Source: Source: the "Declared" candidates table of English Wikipedia's "2027 Slovenian presidential election" article (name, experience, when the campaign was announced). People the media only speculate about are NOT listed, and the sitting president is listed only once she declares. Each candidate's own article image is saved under app/static/images/slovenia_candidates/ (a candidate with none gets the standard placeholder). No opinion polling for this election exists on Wikipedia yet, so none is collected. Source links in the data: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2027_Slovenian_presidential_election

Slovenia cities (slovenia_cities.json)

Source: Source: the table of English Wikipedia's "List of cities and towns in Slovenia" (2026 populations); each city's coordinates come from its own Wikipedia article through the MediaWiki coordinates API. The 10 cities with the largest population are kept, in the shape the other maps' city pins use ({fips, name, lat, lon, population, is_capital, cluster_rep}). Nothing is written unless 10 cities with coordinates were found. Source links in the data: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_cities_in_El_Salvador

State legislature balance (state_legislature_balance.json)

Source: Sources (nothing here is estimated): - Who holds each seat now: the Open States people repository (https://github.com/openstates/people, `data/<state>/legislature/.yml`; public domain), one file per sitting legislator with chamber, district and party. Clone it (sparse: `git sparse-checkout set --no-cone '/data//legislature/*.yml'`) and pass the path. - Which seats are up: the database's own November 2026 general-election offices for that chamber (the same rows the chamber map draws); a chamber that is entirely up needs none. - Seats and seats up per chamber: the NCSL manifest already in app/static/data/legislative/manifest.json.
